

MYSTERY SURROUNDS AGED FARMER'S DEATH

Benjamin Guild Died Under Peculiar Circumstances.

BODY TO BE EXHUMED TODAY

Young Widow Now Serving a Term for Having Forged Husband's Signature to a Note.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—The Massachusetts State authorities are trying to find out whether Benjamin H. Guild, a farmer, seventy-two years old, whose death took place on July 18, died from natural causes, or from the effects of poison. His young widow is now serving a fifteen months' sentence at Sherburne for forging her husband's signature to a note after his death, and Sydney Withington, a farmhand, in the reformatory, as a self-confessed accomplice in the forgery case. Guild's body will be exhumed this week at Sheltonville.

Last week District Attorney French of Norfolk County, ordered that the body should be disinterred, and that Medical Examiner Gallen of Franklin, should perform an autopsy. The State police have been called into the case, and are looking up the record of Mrs. Guild. She is thirty years old, and before her marriage to the aged farmer, was known as Mrs. Jennie Wilbur.

No sooner had Guild been buried than Mrs. Guild moved for her appointment as administratrix. This was opposed by Mrs. Lyman Hancock of Plainville, daughter by Guild's second wife, and neither side consenting to the other as administratrix, both agreed on Lawyer Ruggles as administrator. Two days after his appointment a note for $25, purporting to have been signed by Guild on July 2, was presented to him by Mrs. Guild.

This happened so soon after Guild's death, Lawyer Ruggles's suspicions were aroused, and after some detective work on his part, he felt satisfied that it was a forgery. Both Mrs. Guild and Withington were confronted in an unsuspecting moment with a few facts, and Withington broke down, admitting point blank that he had written the body of the note, and Mrs. Guild the signature of her husband.

AGED NEGRO WITH A FORTUNE STARVING

Emergency Hospital Finds Cash and $4,000 Bank Book in Ragged Clothing of Wretched Patient.

Almost destitute of clothing and nearly starved to death, William Brown, a negro, seventy years of age, when taken to the Emergency Hospital last night from his home, 2134 New York Avenue northwest, was found to have in his possession $75 in cash and a bank book showing deposits amounting to $4,000 in a local bank.

Brown is a veteran of the civil war. He has been almost a hermit, working at odd jobs in the neighborhood of his home and associating with no one. He refused to say anything about himself yesterday. The police are endeavoring to find his relatives.

TROOPER LAWRENCE BELIEVED TO BE DEAD

Evidence Indicating That Fort Myer Soldier Was Drowned at Atlantic City.

Attorney George P. Hoover, of this city, has received a letter from New York containing what he believes to be clear evidence that Harry Lawrence, the ex-soldier of Fort Myer, under indictment in this city for attempting to kill Special Policeman William Young in the early part of the summer, is dead.

According to Attorney Hoover, who has been interested in the young soldier's behalf, Lawrence was drowned at Atlantic City on the 18th of last September. He disappeared mysteriously from his troop while at target practice at Brunswick, Md., and nothing more was heard from him for several weeks until clothing marked Harry Lawrence was found under the board walk at Atlantic City. Although every effort was made by the life-saving corps at that place to find the body, they have failed so far. The clothing found was the uniform of a soldier in the Third Cavalry.

A "SURE THING" TIP WHICH AS USUAL WENT WRONG

Pedro Martinez, Expecting to Realize Thousands on a Long Shot, is Buncoed Out of $900.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Induced to come from New York on the promise that he would be able to make thousands of dollars by betting on "a sure thing" tip at the St. Louis track, Pedro Martinez, representative of a large Cuban tobacco company with headquarters at Havana, was swindled out of $900 Saturday afternoon by three clever con men. In the lobby of the Palmer House Martinez paid the money to a man represented to him as a betting agent for James O'Leary, the stockyards turfman, and later learned he had been buncoed.

Immediately after the discovery that he was the victim of confidence men Martinez reported the case to the Pinkerton agency, and to Lieutenant Rohan of the Central Station, and late last night Frank Hogan, said to be well known to the police, was arrested at State and Nineteenth Streets. Hogan is now a prisoner at Central Station, and has been identified by Martinez as the man who engineered the alleged swindle.

DELEGATES TO DETROIT REPORT TO MACFARLAND

Methods Proposed to End the Coal Famine — Civil and Criminal Proceedings Against Anthracite Mines and Railways.

Exercise of Right of Eminent Domain by State of Pennsylvania and Operation of Mines for the Public.

Commissioner H. B. F. Macfarland, President of the District Board, today received the report submitted by the delegates to the District of Columbia to the Detroit conference on the coal strike. These delegates were named by the Washington Board of Trade and the Business Men's Association, and were John B. Daish, W. J. Zeh, F. C. Coldren, A. Gude, B. S. Graves, R. P. Andrews, Cuno H. Rudolph and Isaac Gans.

The delegates, owing to the delay of trains, did not reach Detroit in time to take part in the proceedings of the conference. They were, however, received by Governor Maybury of Michigan, and in his office with several citizens of Detroit went over the resolutions adopted by the conference, expressing their views upon them verbally and in writing. The report to Commissioner Macfarland embodies a copy of the resolutions adopted by the conference and the objections and comments made by the District of Columbia delegation.

The Detroit Resolutions.
The remedies proposed in the resolutions of the Detroit conference were: "We urge upon the President the necessity and expediency of instructing the Attorney General to institute civil proceedings looking to the enforcement of both the interstate commerce act and the act of July 2, 1890.

"To institute criminal proceedings in the proper courts against the managers, directors, officers and agents of all such corporations for violation of both the above-named acts.

"To direct the interstate commerce commission to at once inquire into the reasonableness of the rates of transportation charged by the coal transportation companies, and any other violations of the interstate commerce act, and cause that tribunal to make application to the courts for an injunction to restrain the further exercise of such abuse and violation.

"To have Congress confer upon the Interstate Commerce Commission the absolute power to fix and determine the rates of transportation upon interstate commerce.

"That the government that possesses the right of eminent domain can, and should, exercise that right in behalf of the people when by such exercise great public wrong can be righted and great public suffering averted.

"That we respectfully petition the

FIVE MEN GUARD THIS PRECIOUS FREIGHT

A Half Million Dollars in Gold Bars Shipped to New York—In Charge of Well-Known Fighters.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 13.—Heavily guarded by five men whose fighting qualities are well known, half a million dollars in gold bars were sent through Omaha last night, destined for New York.

The gold shipment came from the famous Homestake Gold Mine in Black Hills and went by express over the Burlington Railroad. The desperate robbery of Friday night on the same line, where the company lost $50,000, worked on the nerves of the officials to such an extent that extra guards were placed on this train. The interior of the express car resembled an arsenal. The guards, provided with Winchester shotguns and pistols, were prepared to give the outlaws a warm reception. These shipments are made semi-monthly, but seldom run as high as the amount sent down yesterday.

NEW YEAR AT UNIVERSITY.

Solemn high mass, a sermon by the rector of the university, and the profession of faith by the professors and instructors of the institution, constituted the services held yesterday morning, marking the beginning of the academic year 1902-1903 at the Catholic University. The services were held at 9:30 o'clock in Caldwell Chapel. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father McSorley, assisted by the Rev. Father Gallagher, deacon, the Rev. Father Moore, subdeacon, and the Rev. Father Clark, master of ceremonies.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DORSEY.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Dorsey, late wife of Worthington Dorsey, who died last Friday after a brief illness, took place at the family residence, 1638 Sixteenth Street northwest, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Luther B. Wilson, pastor of the Foundry Church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Lucien Clarke, officiated. The pallbearers were C. A. Howard, W. W. Burdette, Dr. G. G. Morris, St. J. B. Dapray, J. Sprigg Poole, Joseph R. Pague, Dr. J. H. P. Benson, and William R. Hodges. The interment was at Oak Hill Cemetery.

YOUNG GATEMAN KILLED.

TOMPKINSVILLE, S. I., N. Y., Oct. 13.—Frank Garrity, a gateman, twenty-six years old and single, of St. Mary's Avenue, Rosebank, S. I., in the employ of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railroad, was instantly killed this morning by being struck by a freight train of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. He was stationed at the Elm Street crossing, Port Richmond. The engine struck him in the body and he died instantly.

STATE SHOULD OPERATE MINES AND RAILWAYS

"We respectfully petition the governor of Pennsylvania unless the strike is speedily settled to call for a special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature and recommend to it the passage of a law providing for the condemnation by the State at fair and just compensation of all the coal-carrying roads in Pennsylvania and of sufficient of the coal lands to enable the State to operate the mines so as to supply the demands of the American public, and pending the ascertainment of their value to take immediate possession of such coal mines by receiver to be appointed by the court pursuant to statute which shall at once take possession of said mines and railroads and operate the same."

governor of Pennsylvania, unless the strike is speedily settled, to call for a special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature and recommend to it the passage of a law providing for the condemnation by the State at fair and just compensation of all the coal-carrying roads in Pennsylvania, and of sufficient of the anthracite coal lands to enable the State to operate the anthracite coal mines so as to supply the demands of the American public and pending the ascertainment of their value to take immediate possession of such coal mines by receiver to be appointed by the court pursuant to statute, which shall at once take possession of said mines and railroads and operate the same.

Extra Session of Congress.
"And be it further resolved, That we respectfully request the President of the United States to call a special session of the House of Representatives and recommend to it the appointment of a committee to investigate the cause and origin of the present disastrous strike and to place the blame thereon upon the responsible parties, with full power to call for all books, papers, deeds, charters, pay rolls, stock books, and other documents and testimony tending to throw light upon the present management and ownership of the coal-carrying roads and anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania for use in litigating and other public purpose that the State of Pennsylvania or the Federal Government may hereafter institute."

The delegates from the District of Columbia favored the bringing of legal proceedings warranted by existing law, but doubted the efficacy of the statute referred to. They approved the investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but regarded the exercise of the right of eminent domain as not applicable to the present situation. Commissioner Macfarland thanked the delegates for their services in Detroit. He said he appreciated fully the self-sacrifice involved in the journey of the delegates to Detroit and said that a public duty had been faithfully performed by them.

DEATH DUE TO HEART DISEASE.

Coroner Nevitt has issued a certificate of death due to natural causes in the case of Moses B. C. Wright, the veteran, employed in the Pension Office, who died suddenly at his home, 612 Sixth Street northwest, about 10 o'clock last night. Death was due, the Coroner found, this morning to heart failure. The family have not as yet made the funeral arrangements. Mr. Wright was sixty-four years of age, and was at the dinner table last night when he suddenly succumbed to heart failure.

The visitors express themselves as much pleased with Mr. Lamb's hospitality, and declare that for business interests and whole-souled entertainment they could not have fallen into better hands.

EAST SIDE POOR MAKE RUSH FOR PAILS OF COAL

Depots Besieged by the Suffering People.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The ending of the Jewish holidays yesterday brought with it a keener realization on the part of the people of the coal famine. This was particularly noticeable in the way the crowds thronged to the various places where coal was sold at 15 cents a pail. In half a dozen places south of Houston Street dealers sold limited amounts at this rate. The result was that for blocks about the stores there were hundreds of excited, eager people all endeavoring to get to the place where the coal was doled out.

No person received more than one pail, but even at this slender proportion the demand could not be supplied. The crowd showed none of the good-natured characteristics of an ordinary gathering. The weak were trampled to the rear. Once in a while an unfortunate mortal, whose bag was too rotten to hold the weight of coal dropped his treasure in the street. Instantly there was a rush among the bystanders to gather even a handful of coal. Still, several thousands of people were benefited by the sale, and the sale will be continued in more places today.

This week promises to be a crucial one on the East Side. The supply of coal, husbanded the last, is now gone. Many baths will not open for business today, and more will close before this week is over. Many thousands of garment workers are momentarily expecting to be thrown out of employment by reason of the lack of fuel for heating the irons of the pressers. Only an unusual season of warm weather can prevent this week from being one of widespread suffering among the weak and sick of the tenement house dwellers.

SPECIAL DETECTIVES GETTING OUT OF CITY

Good Work During G. A. R. Week Evidenced by Number of Well-Known Crooks Caught.

Nearly every member of the small army of detectives which was quartered in Washington during the G. A. R. encampment has left the city. The last of the sleuths to leave was J. A. McLaughlin, of Toledo, Ohio, formerly chief of detectives of that city and now chief of detectives for the Pennsylvania Railroad. Although not an old man, McLaughlin has figured in the detection of some of the most important crimes in the West and is recognized by police officials all over the country to be a sleuth of great ability. He left for his home in Toledo this morning.

Detective Sergeant Maher, assistant chief of detectives at Louisville, Ky., went home yesterday morning. Chief of Detectives Charles Burr, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, left the city yesterday morning for Baltimore, but will return to Washington this morning in order that he may arraign three pickpockets that he arrested during the encampment.

The excellence of the work of the out-of-town detectives during the encampment is evidenced by the record of arrests at Police Headquarters. More than twenty arrests were made by them of thieves of all character, from pickpockets up to house burglars and check forgers.

Some of the men now in the District jail have penitentiary records and are badly wanted by the police all over the country. Nearly all of the crooks have small sentences, like three months and sixty days, to serve, and when their time has expired they will be turned over to other cities.

THE POLICE CARING FOR AN ABANDONED INFANT

The police have a white infant on their hands and don't know what to do with it. The little one was found by Policeman Beauregard of the Sixth Precinct, about 8 o'clock last night in Essex Court northwest, lying in an old basket. The child is now in the custody of Police Department Nurse Francis Brown of 424 I Street northwest, and will later be turned over to some foundling asylum.

The police are endeavoring to find out who abandoned the child.

FAIR AT TENLEYTOWN.

SIAM'S ROYAL PRINCE ON SIGHT-SEEING TOUR

After Visiting Points of Interest in Washington He Leaves for Short Trip to Annapolis.

The royal Siamese visitors, headed by his royal highness, Chompha Maha Vajiravudh, crown prince of Siam, left Washington this afternoon for Annapolis to visit the Naval Academy. The trip will be a hurried one, and the prince and his party is expected to return at 6 o'clock this evening.

The prince had an early breakfast in his apartments at the Arlington this morning, after which he started on a tour of the city. He was accompanied by several members of his own party, Assistant Secretary of State Petros and several Secret Service men. The party entered carriages and were driven directly to the Capitol. There they were received by the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate and extended a cordial welcome. The Senate Chamber was visited, as was also the Vice President's room and other points of interest in the north wing. Sergeant-at-Arms Ransdell then led the way through the big rotunda and Statuary Hall to the House side.

From the Capitol the party went to the Congressional Library, where they were received by Librarian Putnam and several of his assistants. After a short rest in the Librarian's private office, the visitors were led through the book stacks to the gallery, where they looked down upon the reading room below. The method of forwarding volumes from one portion of the building to another interested the Siamese, and the operation of the machines used in the work was fully explained. The reading room for the blind was also visited, as was also the cataloguing department and the shops where the printing and binding are done. The prince expressed great interest in the big building and its contents, particularly in a number of volumes printed in his own language. He also expressed himself as much pleased with everything he had seen.

The Arlington Hotel was reached on the return trip shortly before noon. Luncheon was in readiness, and after it had been served the party re-entered their carriages and went to the Pennsylvania depot, where a special train conveyed them to Annapolis.

No program has been prepared for tonight, except for Prince Chahra-bouge, the younger brother. As an officer in the Imperial Russian Hussars, he has been invited to dine with the Russian ambassador, which invitation has been accepted.

CHARGE OF INCOMPETENCY AND CORRUPTION MADE

Rev. Dr. Hawthorne Makes Scathing Attack Upon Local Police From His Pulpit.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 13.—Rev. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, who has practically been the leader in the ministerial activity in connection with public support of Policeman W. H. Wyatt in his crusade on gamblers, yesterday, in a sermon, charged the police with incompetency and collusion and declared that five members of the council ran the lowest dives in the city.

The druggists of the city were notified by the police today that they would be reported and fined if they continued to sell cigars and tobacco on Sunday.

This is supposed to be a retaliation through the influence of the liquor dealers, who have been required to close on Sunday.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.

Peter McManey died at his home, 9 I Street northwest, this morning of injuries received by being run over by a wagon driven by Joseph Johnson, colored. The accident occurred near the corner of North Capitol and H Streets northwest on September 26 last. Coroner Nevitt was notified, and Precinct Detective O'Dea arrested Johnson, the driver, who will be held for an inquest tomorrow.
